LOCAL BUZZINGS.

News Notes - Personal Paragraphs and Other Doings at Home Worthy of Special Mention

Buy your salt from W. C. McLeod. Try the Paragon Brand. Best on earth for sale at all groceries.

All goods in latest styles at Mrs. K. C. McLeod's, at greatly reduced prices.

For a Christmas present go to Sugg & Co., Madisonville, Ky.

W. C. McLeod's delivery team created another run-away sensation last week.

W. C. McLeod is daily securing his large and beautiful assortment of holiday goods.

The Methodists of this place are holding protracted meetings. Rev. Harry Frost and Rev. Thompson are conducting the services.

Next Saturday night and Sunday Bro. Hobson, of the Louisville Theological Seminary will preach at the Baptist church in this city.

The M. E. Church (South) in this city is about completed, and on the third Sunday and Sunday night in December services will be held. Preaching by Rev. J. W. Love.

Isaac Eison, a farmer living two or three miles from Dawson, died suddenly one day last week of heart disease. He was one of the most prominent citizens of that section of the county.

One of our young sportsmen devoted a full hour the other day in sneaking up on a flock of tame ducks he discovered on the lake. He bagged a few of them, it is natural to suppose, before he discovered they were not of the kind he wanted.

14 VIOLINS From 25 cents to $9.00 at L. R. Woolfolk's.

We believe the schools of Earlington, Hopkins county, must come close to being the banner public schools of the State. In the first place they have a nine months' term. Besides this, vocal music is taught in every grade by Miss Effie E. Farley, Musical Director of Hopkins College; and, last, but not least, all the teachers are taking a course in Pedagogy with Miss H. E. Brooks, Principal of the Training School. These lessons include a study of the general principles of education, and of methods and devices based on these principles.—Educational Courier.

What Shoes? O. K. Shoes at Sugg & Co's., Madisonville, Ky.

Temperance. A temperance meeting will be held at the Christian church, in this city, next Sunday evening at six o'clock. The meeting is given by the Y. P. S. C. E. All are cordially invited.

My line of Library and Stand Lamps can not be excelled for beauty and cheapness. See before purchasing elsewhere.

Sam Jones. Beginning January 1, 1893, the great evangelist, Sam Jones, will hold a series of meetings at Hopkinsville. Extensive arrangements have been made. Reduced rates can be had on all railroads leading into that city.

They Eloped. Miss Eva Barnett, of this city, a sister of our town marshal, John T. Barnett, eloped Tuesday night with a Madisonville lover. The name of her liege lord is Chas. Lindsay, son of William Lindsay, the couple left here on the midnight train for Shawneetown, Ill., where it was their intention to be made one. Here's success to them, and may their life's path be strewn with roses.

100 ALBUMS. Most of these goods will be sold at wholesale prices, and some at less.

L. R. Woolfolk.

Who Are the Thieves? Last Monday night seven or eight freight cars were burglarized at this point. This is the third time an occurrence of this sort has taken place. The detection of the parties has thus far baffled the skill of our local police. A single clue from which to work upon cannot be had, so completely have the perpetrators covered up their tracks. Fruit cars have been the chief sufferers. A day of reckoning may yet come and the guilty parties ferreted out.

Fresh Lime and Cement always in stock at Ruby's.

Fox-Harry. Hampton Fox, of this city, and teacher of stenography at the Madisonville College, and Miss Emma Harry, daughter of T. J. Harry, of Hopkinsville, eloped from the latter place last Thursday afternoon and went to Springfield, Tenn., where they were married. The happy couple returned here last night. Miss Harry is a most estimable young lady, and will be welcome here. Hamp. is too well and favorably known to need our introduction. May they live long and prosper is the wish of all.

Go to Mrs. K. C. McLeod for a cheap hat—the season is about over.

A VANDAL'S WORK.

DESTROY THE FORMS OF THE REPUBLICAN OFFICE AND FIRE THE BUILDING.

The Perpetrator is Known and Will Be Arrested as Soon as Found.

On Wednesday night some vandal entered the Republican office and deliberately "piled" the forms for this week's paper, thus throwing it away behind time in reaching its thousands of subscribers. However, by working night and day, the paper is issued on Friday afternoon. The burglar entered by a rear window.

Last Friday night some one, probably the same party, built a nice little fire under the rear end of the Republican building, and but for a timely discovery the building would have been destroyed with all its contents.

The perpetrator of the deed is probably the one who threatened to drive the editor of the Republican out of town. As he has left town it is probable that no arrest will be made till in a day or two. The evidence is very strong and at least one hoodlum is likely to serve a term of years in the penitentiary.

The same party visited the Herald office Wednesday night and repeated his work there and that paper will also be delayed in its issue.—Central City Republican.

500 DOLLS at L. R. Woolfolk's, and they must go if low prices will sell them.

A MURDERER SURRENDERS And Hags to be Taken Out of the County for Safe Keeping.

Officers Cravens and Davis who went to Sinking Fork Thursday evening to arrest D. B. Wiles and his son, William, for the murder of Walter B. Weaver, failed to get the elder Wiles. The son, a simple-minded young fellow who probably had nothing to do with the killing, was brought in and put in jail, where he now is, in default of a $500 bond. D. B. Wiles spent the night at Hon. H. B. Clark's near Bellevue, and Mr. Clark came to town, as he claimed to be afraid of a mob.

Mr. Clark employed Mr. C. H. Bush as his attorney and late that night the officers met Wiles at Mr. Bush's house and he surrendered and remained in jail that night, awaiting examination. The next day he was taken to Henderson and will remain in jail there until the grand jury meets.

Wiles confesses that he killed Weaver, but his attorney is not ready yet to lay down the line of defense. It will be that the shots were fired in his own defense, while Weaver was trying to ride over him.

Public sentiment is greatly against Wiles. It is claimed that he stood in ambush and deliberately shot Weaver from his horse, that his victim died clutching his riding switch in his hand, probably ignorant of what hit him. He was unarmed and entirely unprepared for trouble with his arm enemy. Great indignation prevails over the bloody deed and the people would not hesitate to lynch Wiles if he could be gotten hold of. He was right in wanting to get out of the county as soon as possible. In the light of the evidence now at hand, Wiles is a brutal assassin who deserves the severest penalty of the law.—Kentuckian.

I can save you money on Xmas goods. Get my prices and be convinced.

CINCINNATI'S NEW PAPER. It Will Be Called The Tribune, Will Sell for Two Cents, and Speak for Southern Interests.

The new morning paper for Cincinnati is a certainty. One of the strongest companies ever organized in Cincinnati for any purpose is back of it. The list of stockholders comprises nearly one hundred of leading business men of that city. The capital stock is $200,000. Its directors are, Archer Brown, President; Stephen H. Wilder, Treasurer; Albert Lawson, Secretary; James N. Gamble, Aaron A. Ferris, James J. Hooker, Alexander Oliver, Albert E. Koenig.

The Tribune (which is to be the name of the new paper) will occupy one of the handiest buildings in the city, on Main street, directly opposite the post-office. Hoe & Co., of New York, are working on the finest equipment for it ever ordered from Cincinnati. The Tribune will be entirely free from separatism of every kind, and it is the intention to make it the best and most popular paper in the Ohio valley. It will be independent Republican in politics, and will sell for two cents. Albert Lawson, late with the St. Louis Republic, will be the Tribune's managing editor, and Charles H. Scott, late with the Chicago Herald, will be its business manager. The Tribune will make its appearance about the holidays. The ownership purpose giving special attention to the industrial and commercial interests of the South, in which the merchants of Cincinnati have a deep interest, notwithstanding the contrary tone of some Cincinnati journals. The price of the Tribune by mail will be 50 cents per month or $6.00 per year.

Treat yourself to a pair of new shoes. Sugg & Co's., Madisonville, Ky., has shoes to fit you and will wear better than shoes bought elsewhere. O. K. shoes are the best.

Entry Notice. Taken up as an entry by T. H. Green, living one and one-half miles south-west of White Plains, in Hopkins county, on the 20th ult., one hay tract, aged about 15 years, has a knot on right fore knee and white spots on each shoulder caused by collar galls; small white spot on each flank and a few white hairs in center of forehead; about 14 hands high. There are no other marks or brands that I have discovered, and which I have appraised to the value of $30. Witness my hand this October 2, 1892.

L. F. BAILEY, J. P. O. C.

W. C. McLeod is the old reliable on groceries and feed, and his assortment and bottom prices will please you.

Dyspepsia. Symptoms—Dizziness, headache, constipation, variable appetite, souring of food, distress after eating. German Liver Syrup is guaranteed to cure dyspepsia faithfully according to directions, or your druggist will refund the money to any person not satisfied after using the whole or part of the bottle. 50c and $1 bottles at Robinson Bros' drug store.

A CARD TO THE PUBLIC.

Mrs. Fannie Wagner, of Earlington, Ky., having had the misfortune to lose her dwelling house by fire, we, the undersigned citizens of Hopkins county, agree to give her the sum set opposite our names to assist her in rebuilding her house.

N. B. The subscription list per the above, is in the hands of Ernest Hibbs, of Madisonville, who will receive all donations and receipt for same. A full report of which will be published in THE BEE.

8 GUITARS From $4.50 to $15.00 at L. R. Woolfolk's.

MADISONVILLE N. M. Holeman and wife will leave soon to spend the winter in Florida.

Frost & Showers will have their new grocery opened for business this week.

Mrs. Mary Yost, of Greenville, has been visiting the Misses Earle on upper Main St.

At Hanson, the bride's home, Roland I. Clerk and Miss Emma L. Holmgren were married last Tuesday, the 6th inst.

There are six inmates in the county jail. Four of them awaiting trial for murder, one for stealing a horse, and one working out a fine.

"Uncle Sam Woodson (col.), for several years an employee of Bishop & Co., has gone to the land of eternal rest. He died last week.

Could Sam Jones be induced to hold meetings in this city after filling his engagement in Hopkinsville? He could, but for revenue only.

A revival meeting has been going on for several weeks at Pleasant Garden church, in the Pond river neighborhood. The result has been 18 conversions, 9 accessions and 4 sanctifications.

Harry Scott's friends will be pleased to know he continues to improve. Every day there is some change for the better and it is a matter of only a short time before he will be, comparatively, as well as ever.

W. H. Manier was buried last Friday in Odd Fellows' Cemetery. He was a member of the A. O. U. W. and of the Carlisle Rifles. Both bodies participated at his funeral. He leaves a wife and one child.

Last night Miss Emma Young Frewett entertained a large number of her friends at her home. The costumes worn were sheets and pillow slips, giving all a ghost like appearance. A very pleasant time was had.

Joo Cox (col.) was brought before Judge Dempsey on Monday and was committed to the asylum for the insane at Hopkinsville. He is an escaped lunatic, having escaped from the insane asylum three years ago.

WANTED. I want your Xmas trade. If variety, low prices and kind treatment are inducement, I will catch you.

L. R. Woolfolk.

HAMBY STATION. Torrence Williams was here Sunday. Gas Wilson was in Dawson this week. Elison Craynor was in town last week. Emson Alexander was in town Sunday. Elison Robinson was in town Saturday. Joe Austin's sore throat is getting better. John Todd had business in town this week. Shack Williams was in town one day recently.

Bennie Craynor is hauling wood for Mr. Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Caldwell went to Dawson Saturday.

Mr. McAlister returned from Princeton Monday.

Mr. Wilson and John Crawford went to Madisonville this week.

That girl said the hoop-pole man was all smiles when she saw him.

Mrs. Shack Williams paid her respects to friends here last Thursday.

Joe and Oscar Caldwell secured thirty-six birds—the result of a day's hunt.

Butler's saw mill is just "a sifting sand" this week. Come back, Brother Pat.

L. D. Caldwell and Joe Austin built two railroad trestles over Rocky Run last week. Thos. Robertson is hauling ties for the new railroad which will soon be built here. Peter Cavis was in town Friday and did some work for his father, Grandpa Cavis.

ST. CHARLES. Bass' new baby is a fine girl.

The brass band looks very well from our point of view.

R. L. Ferguson spent last Sunday at his home near Morton's Gap.

Home talent will probably render a drama in this town soon after Christmas.

The St. Bernard Coal Company has received, at this point, a new and very large compressor.

Our town is the temporary home of a dime museum, which is at this writing the center of attraction.

R. M. Salmon and family and Miss Mattie Daves of Isley, were in town last Sunday, and attended Christian Sunday school.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. McEuen was a busy scene on the night of the 29th ult. The occasion was the celebration of the tenth anniversary of their marriage, and was a most delightful affair.

Neither money nor labor were spared in making preparation, and at the appointed hour this newly arranged and beautiful home was thronged with their many friends. After a short time of greetings, the guests were directed to the dining-room, where an elegant supper was in waiting.

The tables were freighted with luxuries and trimmed with flowers and other emblems of life and beauty. The distant music was a pleasant accompaniment to the feast. Supper over, the company repaired to the parlor, where music and conversation filled out the evening, making it one to be remembered for years to come. We herewith give a list of presents, which were fine and warmly appreciated: Barton Crutchfield, coal vase; Dr. Finley and wife and Jenkins Hart, hall lamp; George King and wife, bread box and coal scuttle; Miss Joe McAlister, crumpan and brush; Richard Palmer and wife and Miss Polly Sutton, flour bin and sieve; E. L. Hart and wife and W. H. Jenkins and wife, coal vase; John Balder, Sr., and wife, fire set; John Palmer and wife, pearl tea pot; Mrs. Southworth and Son, tea tray; R. L. Ferguson, parlor vase lamp; Dr. Graham, broiler; B. F. Farrow and wife, individual silver salt and pepper set; Mrs. L. M. Brown and daughter, half dozen pie pans; Mrs. E. R. McKoon, of Earlington, one set silver knives and forks; Mr. and Mrs. Klusener, of Pensacola, Fla., silver gold-lined pie tray; Mr. and Mrs. Satterfield, of Nashville, Tenn., china vase bowl.

ISLEY. On deck again. Coal cars are scarce. How about that Christmas tree? Cland Sundayed at St. Charles. Ott Hamby took in the ball and is proud of it.

What's the matter with the singing school? R. J. Salmon spent Sunday at St. Charles.

Sam Lankford went to Providence last Thursday.

Mrs. John Harland went to Madisonville on the 1st.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Salmon were in Paducah last week.

Omras Dave Nanley has been very sick, but is now up again.

We had a very interesting time at the Sunday night meeting.

James Lankford, of Earlington, is here on a visit to his son, Sam.

Miss Nora Ridley was here and attended the bal masque in costume.

Gale Thompson, of Morton's Gap, visited his father-in-law, Deacon Gray, last week. That ball masque was a grand affair, but the belle of the ball wore very short hair.

Dimit Woodruff was at the Garnett party, but got here in time to see the end of the ball.

The Misses Florence and Nan Hamby, accompanied by Miss Emma Wright, were in town on the 3d.

Wm. Crawford and James Osburn, of St. Charles, were here to attend the ball Saturday night.

H. M. Adamson and Miss Ada Lankford of Earlington, were visiting their brother and sister on the 2d.

Miss Alice Gray is visiting her sister, Mrs. Thompson, at Morton's Gap. She will probably remain a few weeks.

We are glad to see Mrs. Andrew Bone able to be out again. She has been confined to the house for a long time.

The projected clothing house and barber shop has been remodelled and enlarged for a double dwelling, and is now about completed.

There was a wedding in our town last week. The Judge officiated, therefore it is needless to add that the knot was most gracefully tied.

Mr. Boyd, the photo artist, has his studio on the public square, at the corner of 5th and Broadway. He is doing a land office business, and will make some scenic views for Superintendent Salmon.

We had a very good turn-out at Sunday school on the 4th, when it was unanimously agreed to change the hour from 9:30 a. m. to 2 p. m. We think this will prove a wise move.

Deacon Hall don't think much of the Major's jug, as he can get plenty of that in the water bucket, without having to tackle a suspicious looking jug to get it. But then the Major only said "take a drink."

The noise of the carpenter is heard in the land. Beside the Company's gentlemanly foreman and his able corps of assistants, a good deal of work is being done by citizens. For instance, Luth Bone built a stable last week, with A. T. Bone, his brother, acting architect and boss of the job.

I-ley looked like a county seat on the 1st. People were here from all points in all kinds of equipages and on all kinds of mounts. The horse racks on Broadway, from the public square to Second, were lined with animals. It looked like court was in session or a circus in town.

We are glad to see that THE BEE recognizes merit when found. Right you are, Editor, should County Judge-elect Dempsey succeed to the position for which he is an aspirant, then no better selection could be made to fill the vacancy than R. J. Salmon. Our Judge would fit the place like the well—just like the paper on the wall.

We suggest to our Bro. Quill of Hamby that he make arrangements with the conductors of the trains by which they might drop him off a list of the names of all the passengers on their trains as they pass through, as at present the passy through too fast for him to get them. Sisy, Bro. Quill, Chicago wants you to "pad up" her directory.

Hello there, Charlestonites! Switchcar-boldesteet, when did Isley become a suburb of Lynchtown? You must be a Democrat, you are so good at straddling. When did W. G. Wright teach school at Charleston, or how did J. Y. Ray get over there? Why, if you keep on you will take Isleyville, and all towns intervening. There you might as well annex the windy city with her show, while your hand is in. You certainly must be mixed or the greatest straddler of the age. Go it while you're young.

Owing to the fact that school was closed several weeks for want of a teacher, the attendance has fallen off. But thanks to indefatigable efforts of R. M. Salmon, who is one of the school trustees, the services of Miss Mattie Daves, of Madisonville, were secured for the unexpired term, and now the attendance is growing nicely. Miss Daves is a young lady of fine intellectual attainments, in proof of which she holds certificates of the highest order, and her success with the scholars so far gives promise of good results for the rest of the term.

The Debating Society has reorganized, but owing to the fact that religious services interfered with our appointment, the matter lagged a little, but we will blow in again on the night of the 6th, when it is expected that the vults will once more re-echo with the glowing eloquence and thrilling appeals of Isley's oratorical sons. Remember the night—every Tuesday. Let us add that while we are always ready to give way to our religious friends, in favor of Divine service, when necessary, yet we think that one night in the week ought to be allowed to club for this purpose, and knowing the night our religious friends should make their appointments accordingly, so that we may have no more failures.

On the night of the 2d our town was enlivened by two masquerades, while near by a prayer meeting was being held at Deacon Gray's. All were successfully carried out. Oh, I tell you this is the town. At the masquerade held at the colored gentry over at Milt Stoney's, it seems they could not get to dancing successfully until they and brandished their firearms and cutlery and exploded their fighting talk. This part of the performance went off harmoniously, then harmony regained her sway and the dance proceeded with a vigor peculiar to this people alone, but over at Col. Carroll's all went merry as a marriage, and as smooth as skates on ice.

At an early hour the maskers commenced to arrive, and by 7:30 the place was literally thronged by dancers in costume and on-lookers. Of the gentlemen we cannot say much—they deserve very little praise, as but very few of them made any attempt at disguise, save the purchase of a fifteen cent mask. But the ladies turned out in force, and did time and space permit we would like to try to describe the scene and mention the fair ones, but as we cannot mention all, we will content ourselves by saying that the ladies showed both ingenuity and artistic skill in devising and perfecting the costumes worn. Altogether it was a night of enjoyment, never to be forgotten by those present, and we understand it will be repeated in the near future. Our Monck is a daisy, but you know what he does is always well done.

CHARLESTON. Talking about little towns, Charleston is just a booming town.

An Isley boy will sell you the whole "World" for five cents. Did you ever hear of such a bargain?

Several of our fellow-citizens left us last week. They were completely busted in the way of finances.

Chas. Lacy and Sambo Landers had a fight the other day. Both are mere kids. What was the matter boys?

A dry goods pedlar, passed through here last week. He said his name was not Cheap John, but Honest John.

Rev. Capt. John Miller and Gracie Bishop have been married. May their wedded life be a long and happy one.

Well, gentlemen, that powder trick! The other night at Crabtree they scared the life nearly out of two or three men. You bet they ran for dear life, and it was only three pounds of meal. One man jumped ten feet, clear; he jumped over the counter and a cider barrel on top of it.

MINING BEES. Marion Sisk, after an illness of about two months, is now able to be at his post in the mines.

The falling away of the coal trade in the east has caused railroads there to greatly reduce their train force.

One of the things most desired by coal companies is a cold wave which will last until the first of March.

Secretary Atkinson made several business trips last week, looking after the interests of the St. Bernard.

Very few miners failed to observe the hog law, therefore the marshal had several little business with them in that line.

Those photographers were completely knocked out last week by the lateness of that coke train they wished to photograph.

The St. Bernard office force was increased by the addition of another clerk—Miss Ethel Evans was the lucky person.

Foreman Thomas Robinson, of Empire, says that business is good at that place, but he still feels very sore over the loss of the Presidency by the g. o. p.

Dan Evans will, it is rumored, soon be partially, if not wholly released from office duty by being placed in another position of more importance on the outside.

John Rule thinks there is a good prospect of being placed with the day force, which will be a great relief to him as he has been on night duty for a long time in the mines.

Last Thursday was pay day with the St. Bernard Company, and thousands of dollars were distributed among the employees of that company here and at Morton's Gap and at St. Charles.

The rumor aloft last week that one Ade Clements, a miner of Barnsley, had been killed while crossing a railroad bridge, has proven to be unfounded and the boy is still in the land of the living.

If large shipments indicate doing a prosperous business, the St. Bernard can not complain of the condition of their coke trade as in three days last week a total of forty-eight cars of coke was shipped from here. One train of eighteen cars went to El Paso, Texas.

Greatly surprised were many of our people last Sunday morning when they heard of the marriage of Doc Griffin. Miss Callaway being the charming bride. Doc is a hard worker and has a prosperous future awaiting him. Thousands of friends congratulate the happy couple.

Many miners and other laborers have been thrown out of employment by the suspension of the Grand Rivers Company. Some litigations have sprung up among the stockholders, which is said to be the cause of the wheels stopping. A large amount of money has been invested there and the loss to the company while idle is heavy.

A pitiable sight, it was, to see that aged miner from Morton's Gap at our county seat, last week, greatly under the influence of liquor. The law, as we understand it, is that dealers in liquors—saloon keepers—can not sell to men after they become intoxicated, yet few are turned away until their pockets are drained. Such is the result of legalized saloons.

The shipping of coal to Chicago last winter by the St. Bernard and other companies seems to have almost established a trade for Kentucky coal at that place, as we understand that several companies are now shipping coal there and others are contemplating doing so soon. Among those now furnishing the above named city with coal is the Providence Coal Company and the Hecla Coal Company. Thus it can be seen that Kentucky coal is becoming very popular, indeed, and is fast taking the place of inferior coal from other States.

T. Egbert Wheeler, of 278 South Eighth street, Armourdale, Mo., knelt at his bed-side and prayed to die. He then retired and was dead in four hours. Wheeler was a prosperous coal merchant and was in robust health and weighed 130 pounds. Three weeks ago his little daughter, Ora, died. He brooded very much over this, but at Saturday seemed more cheerful. Before he retired that night he read a chapter from the Bible, kneeling by his bed-side and prayed fervently to be with his daughter.

At 6 o'clock Mrs. Wheeler awakened by hearing her husband groaning, and ran to her brother's room for help. When they returned Wheeler was lying face downward with
